

This week

W/C Monday 29th June 2026

It has been a different but busy week at Netley! We have had move up mornings and transition activities in the latter half of the week as we prepare for next year. In our learning, we have been looking at measurement, with a focus on capacity. We had fun in the outdoor area exploring volume and capacity using different containers' capacities with water. In literacy we designed our own dragons and wrote about them which was very exciting. In DT we have planned our dips and dippers which we will be making over the coming weeks and in history we designed our own stamps based on Mary Seacole and Florence Nightingale. Have a great weekend!
